Anatomical, innovative and functional performance

Precision ergonomics. Feature-rich functionality. Striking design deconstructed and reconstructed for performance. We engineer each RH Chair to targeted physiological and situational specifications. Our functions lead all our forms.

Proven human performance at the heart of our identity

Our rigorous research and testing methodology validates how an RH chair enhances individual and organisational performance. Our RH Performance Studies have demonstrated an increase in the baseline performance of all organisations who have taken part. Now, that's Return on Investment.

Performance and Quality are our Core

To increase customer performance we must consistently deliver products of unquestionable quality. We achieve this through the application of the exacting standards. Our 100% in-house, concept-to customer flow of production enables us to control every element – from design, product development and assembly to logistics to ensure high performance quality.

Finding innovative ways for environmental performance

We keep our eye on the prize, the perpetual performance of your people as well as our planet. Our yield is recyclable, and even some biodegradable, products. The result, a minimised impact upon our global home.
